Seemingly frozen in time, these islands have remarkably kept the modern world at bay. Visit Inishmore (or Inis Mór, meaning "the big island"). Inhabited by a population of only 850, this rocky enclave is the largest of the islands. In addition to its stark natural beauty, it is well-known for playing home to a number of archaeological sites. Important Tour Information:

Economy air rate and schedule are applicable for groups of 10 or more traveling on the same flights and dates.

The overall activity level of this tour is a level 3. This means you're an on-the-go traveler. You don't want to miss a thing, so walking and standing for longer periods of time (2-3 hours) isn't a big deal. A moderately paced two-and-a-half-hour walking tour, covering several miles, hills, and uneven surfaces, is no problem for you. Walking four miles over the course of a day is very doable, as is climbing into and out of various modes of transportation (tuk-tuk, cable car, zodiac, etc.). You can climb three flights of stairs easily and handle altitudes between 6,000 and 9,000 feet. Expect some longer days with early mornings or late nights balanced with free time to recharge or set out on your own adventure. This level is not a fit for travelers who require mobility assistance devices.

Travel with an average of 19 people (maximum of 24).

If weather conditions prohibit crossing to the Aran Islands, alternative arrangements will be made for accommodation and activities.
